SALISBURY STATE UNIVERSITY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Social Work Program Celebrates 25th Anniversary

The Social Work Program celebrated 25 years during Homecoming Weekend '98. Seventy-five attendees, including former faculty and alumni, networked during a social hour and dinner. Everyone then enjoyed a program and slide show highlighting the development of social work at SSU.

The Social Work Program has grown from seven graduates in the first class to over 75 graduates per year. In 1990, a dual-degree program was launched, allowing sociology majors at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore to pursue a social work degree at SSU. That program has grown from three graduates in the first year to over 20 each year. Social work students contribute more than 400 hours of service in the local community through field placements, volunteer requirements and club projects, then continue to give back to their communities through their careers and volunteerism.

In all SSU's program has produced over 1,000 social workers, supervisors, field instructors, lawyers, ministers and even college professors. Social work graduates can be found working as far away as Thailand.

Recently re-accredited, the Social Work Program continues to grow. The faculty continue to work closely with the University of Maryland, Baltimore to offer Master of Social Work courses on the Eastern Shore. Beginning next fall a pilot program for part-time students will offer the full four years of master's classes at SSU.

Alumnus Donates to Establish Student Leadership Center

SSU will build what is believed to be the first Student Leadership Center in the University System of Maryland. Annapolis-based business man and entrepreneur Michael Scarborough ('76) has pledged $500,000 for the facility.

Michael Scarborough '76

Helping to implement one of the goals of the SSU Strategic Plan, Scarborough Leadership Center programs and activities will develop leadership qualities and skills in students. Supporters envision the center moving the University into the forefront of leadership development among undergraduates nationwide.

The program will bring Greek/social and academic societies together, both of which have strong components of community service in their creeds and mission statements. "The center may be one of the first of its kind in the nation to do this," said President William C. Merwin.

The facility will include a ceremonial room, resource library, storage, a study with computers, meeting rooms, offices, a kitchen and outdoor courtyard. The 7,000-foot structure is anticipated to cost $700,000. The SSU Foundation will launch a fund-raising campaign for the additional $200,000.

According to Vice President of Student Affairs Carol Williamson, both graduate schools and employers seek graduates who have developed their leadership abilities. One of SSU's best examples of a successful student leader is Scarborough himself. A former Sea Gull football player, he was a founding member of SSU's chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon (SAE) fraternity. Scarborough earned an M.B.A. in finance at Baldwin-Wallace College and in 1988 established The Scarborough Group, a firm dedicated to active asset management and educational programs for 401(k) participants. The Scarborough Group now manages over $1.5 billion in assets.

Scarborough has been nominated for Inc. Magazine's "Entrepreneur of the Year" and has appeared on CNBC many times. His insights into the marketplace have been sought by USA Today, Money Magazine, The Wall Street Journal, New York Times and The Washington Post, among others.

Student Support

Bob McClain Jr. (left), director of environmental health at the Dorchester County Health Department and president of the Tidewater Environmental Health Association, and Laura Mooney (Class of 95), registered sanitarian with the Somerset County Health Department and chair of the 1998 Wallace Q. French Scholarship Golf Tournament, recently presented a $4,061 check for environmental health scholarships to Henson School Dean Tom Jones. At the presentation were this year's scholarship recipients—Christina Rumbley, a chemistry major from Cambridge, MD, and David Inman, an environmental health science major from Harwood, MD—and Alumni Relations Director Roy S. Perdue.

Making Good Music

The Department of Music is conducting a self-study as required by the National Association of Schools of Music (NASM). This project includes a survey that must reach as many SSU music alumni as possible. The input and support of Music Department graduates is valuable; therefore, it is imperative that the Office of Alumni Relations have a current address listing for all music alumni. Call the Alumni Office at 410-543-6042 or toll free at 1-888-SBY-ALUM (729-2586) or e-mail the Alumni Office at alumni@ssu.edu.

Sweet Music to SSU

SSU has the benefit of using 20 new pianos, five of which are grands, at no cost through an arrangement with The Piano Shop. This solves our age-old problem of constant repair and replacement of old pianos.

In September, the music students were thrilled when they opened doors to practice rooms and classrooms to find new pianos. In addition, there is a 7-foot, 9-inch Petrof grand in the Great Hall in Holloway Hall, as well as a baby grand in the Alumni House. Students were so overwhelmed they volunteered to have the Music Educator's National Conference (MENC) campus chapter help oversee the general housekeeping of the pianos.

BOV Meets With President Merwin

At the October 10 meeting of the Board of Visitors (BOV), an alumni advisory and advocacy group, President Merwin presented a brief overview of the University including recent accolades from Kiplinger's personal finance magazine, which placed SSU in the top 10 percent among nearly 600 public universities in the country, and U.S. News and World Report, which for the second consecutive year ranked SSU among the top 10 public universities in the northeastern U.S.

Merwin outlined priorities for fiscal year 1999, including continued academic excellence and active learning, increases in international education experiences for students, student leadership, career development and job placements for graduates, cultural affairs and technology.

Richard Pusey, vice president of administration and finance, explained the University's revenues and expenditures, offering a comparison of state appropriations within the University System of Maryland (USM). Marty Williams, vice president of university advancement and executive director of the SSU Foundation, then explained SSU's Capital Campaign.

Merwin next introduced several members of his staff to discuss their roles within the University and to suggest ways the board members might be of assistance to them. BOV members volunteered to assist in Admissions, Career Services, Legislative Matters, Enterprise Development, Alumni Relations and Development.

Merwin closed the meeting with a brief discussion about the USM. A Task Force appointed by the legislature is reviewing the benefits of system membership. Merwin asked BOV members to advocate for the University.

The group will meet April 23-24 and October 15-16 in 1999.

Following is the second in a series of interviews designed to offer perspectives on SSU's Capital Campaign. Here Cambridge attorney Edward H. Nabb, $500,000 benefactor of the Research Center for Delmarva History and Culture, shares his thoughts.

Why did you support the Capital Campaign with so generous a gift to the Research Center?

Let's face it. The Chesapeake Bay region is where the United States began, and there should really be a repository here for that information. Besides, my ancestors came to the Eastern Shore in the early 18th century as indentured servants, so I feel a strong connection here.

How does a gift to the campaign benefit the region?

The Research Center at SSU is unique in that it is devoted to the history of a region incorporating three states, which also happens to be one of the earliest settled regions by European immigrants in the New World. Because the Chesapeake was often the first-way station to settlers who continued on, the Shore is an important national genealogical source for family history. The Leslie P. Dryden collection, a 250-volume history of some 2,000 Eastern Shore families, is second to none. In addition, the center's collections range from rare land survey records and maps to unique photographic collections. We must preserve these for the region.

Does the center's value extend beyond the Eastern Shore?

The center serves genealogical researchers from all over the U.S., as well as several foreign countries. The center also contains copies of the oldest continuous sets of courthouse records in the continental United States, dating back to 1632. The late Wilcomb Washburn, head of the American Studies Program at the Smithsonian, donated his personal library of more than 10,000 volumes before his death, and the Donner Foundation of New York has established a $75,000 Washburn memorial at the center. The center offers students, armchair historians and professionals an opportunity to conduct in-depth research in one user-friendly location.

How will the center attract more students to SSU?

The center is the lynchpin for SSU's new Master of Arts in history, with a specialty in Chesapeake studies, established last spring. This program will foster a whole new group of historians and teachers who will continue to preserve local history through their new-found interest. The center is an outstanding historical laboratory for both students and professionals, with its vast repository of original public and private records that provide insight into the people of Delmarva, their customs and attitudes.

Why do you feel so strongly about education?

I never had the opportunity to attend college, but I've always been a firm believer in education. During World War II, I took classes and would study at night in my bunk with a flashlight under the covers, and graduated first in my class. In Manila after the war, I helped build the University of the Philippines. For the past 25 years, I've served as president of the Nathan Foundation, which has awarded $600,000 in scholarships to Salisbury State students. Life for all of us on the Eastern Shore has been enriched by the presence of Salisbury State. We should all feel proud of its accomplishments and support it in whatever way we can.

Our Promise of Excellence

The 1998-99 Annual Fund

The Annual Fund is a unique opportunity for you as alumni to ensure the continued success of your Alma Mater. Your gift benefits students through scholarship opportunities, expanded student research, unique internship and travel opportunities. Please consider making a gift to SSU during the present Annual Fund campaign, or during the phonathon in late February and March. Whatever amount you can afford will be greatly appreciated. The SSU Alumni Association thanks you for your continued generosity and support.

Don't Tell! It's a Surprise

A surprise 75th birthday tribute is being planned for the longest serving faculty member in SSU's history, Dr. Jessie Fleming, on Saturday, August 7, in the Commons. There will be a reception, with time for anecdotes and tributes to the former music professor. We hope she will afford us once again the opportunity to sing in a chorus under her direction.

Look for more information in the spring edition of SSU Magazine (formerly Scene), but mark your calendar now. Please let the planning committee know of your interest in this event by calling the Office of Alumni Relations toll free at 1-888-SBY-ALUM (729-2586) by March 1.

New Members

Bowie State University Interim President Wendell M. Holloway, a longtime friend and supporter of SSU, delivered the featured winter commencement address on Sunday, December 20, when 515 students joined the Alumni Association.

Together We Stand

In December President Merwin signed a Memorandum of Agreement helping to establish the Eastern Shore Association of Colleges (ESAC). The association will develop inter-institutional strategies to expand educational opportunities and to promote the higher education services and economic development of the region. Also participating in the signing were (standing, from left) presidents Dolores Spikes, University of Maryland Eastern Shore; Stuart Bounds, Chesapeake College; Arnold Maner, Wor-Wic Community College; and John Toll, Washington College.

Be Our Guest

The fall lecture series, "Beyond 2000: A Journey Into the Millennium," brought NASA Chief Daniel S. Goldin to campus, along with representatives from National Geographic, the World Population Institute and the Smithsonian Institution, among others. Sister Souljah, self-described "raptivist" and one-time associate of the rap group Public Enemy, urged intellect, self-respect and spirituality when she visited campus in the fall.

Sea Gulls Soar

Two conference championships, two NCAA Tournament berths, four conference player of the year winners and eight all-American recipients were among the noteworthy achievements by the Sea Gull fall sports teams. The field hockey and volleyball teams both won conference championships and earned NCAA Tournament bids. Mike Giuffrida (men's soccer), Megan Hopper (field hockey), Kerri Bowers (cross country) and Jen O'Neill (volleyball) all claimed CAC Player of the Year honors.

For a schedule of 1999 art exhibits, theatre and music performances, and other campus activities, please contact the Public Relations Office at 410-543-6030 or visit the University Web site at www.ssu.edu.

Good Advice

The National Academic Advising Association awarded SSU two national academic advising awards at its annual convention in San Diego, CA, recently.

Dr. Elichia Venso, associate professor of biology and director of the newly accredited environmental health science program, was one of 38 faculty and professional advisors from across the U.S. and Canada to be named an Outstanding Academic Advisor. The University also won an Outstanding Advisee Publication award for Stop Before You Drop, which provides students a list of issues to consider before dropping a class and encourages them to discuss these issues with their advisor.

Of Merit

Four SSU freshmen have won National Merit Scholar awards—Brett Gardner of Gaithersburg, MD; Lauren Kerr of Jarrettsville, MD; Anne Neubauer of West Chester, PA; and Brandon Green of Salisbury—marking the highest number of National Merit Scholars at Salisbury State in the past 10 years. Gardner, Kerr and Green are enrolled in the Perdue School of Business. Neubauer has not yet declared a major.

The University's other National Merit Scholar, Dan Richardson of Delmar, MD, is completing a year of study at K.U. Leuven in Belgium, the oldest Catholic University in the world. He will graduate with majors in philosophy and history.

Sea Gull Club Invites New Members

If you like good food, exciting sports action and friendly people, the Sea Gull Club may be the organization for you. Initiated in 1972 as a support arm for the SSU athletics program, the Sea Gull Club continues to thrive as an active community organization providing fun and fellowship to its 150 members and support to SSU's 450 student-athletes.

The club holds one major social function each month September-April. Members receive free admission to SSU's regular season home athletics events and a 10 percent discount at the Book Rack.

The club has given nearly $150,000 to the athletics program through a percentage of social membership fees (varsity and corporate membership fees go entirely to the athletics program). The club traditionally supplies special watches and plaques to SSU's Most Valuable Players each season.

To join or for further information call 410-543-6027.

Introducing the Varsity Club

The Varsity Club is a new organization formed to support SSU's intercollegiate athletics program. The primary focus of that support is fund-raising through membership and special events, for the enhancement of the athletics program.

Membership in the Varsity Club is open to any individual or corporation making the minimum contribution. There are different levels of memberships available, each with attractive incentives. To join the Varsity Club or for more information, contact Director of Athletics Mike Vienna (410-548-3503) or Assistant Director of Annual Giving Michael Jessup (410-548-2074).

Four Join Athletics Hall of Fame

Four new members were added to the Athletics Hall of Fame during Homecoming Weekend festivities in October. The four inductees—Robin Adair '88, Mike Coppa '88, Dr. Norman Crawford and Deane Deshon—were officially honored at a banquet on campus.

Adair was a two-time field hockey All-American and two-time team MVP who finished as the team's leading scorer in both 1985 and 1986. She was one of the key players on the 1986 team that claimed the national championship with a perfect 21-0 record.

Coppa was one of the top running backs in Sea Gull history and still owns 13 school records. He is the all-time single-season rushing leader with 1,812 yards in 1986, the all-time points leader (264), and ranks third in career rushing with 3,325 yards.

Crawford served as University president from 1970-79, during which time he was instrumental in the growth of the entire athletics program. He supported the addition of football and men's lacrosse as well as the expansion of the women's intercollegiate program.

Deshon, the winningest coach in SSU history, retired in 1997 after 34 seasons as head baseball coach. He compiled a 553-446-12 all-time record, with 22 winning seasons and nine postseason appearances.

The Hall of Fame was initiated in 1985 to honor those who have made outstanding contributions to Salisbury State's athletics heritage. The addition of these four inductees brings the Hall's membership to 65. Each member has a permanent plaque displayed in the Hall of Fame showcase in Maggs Physical Activities Center.

Selection for the Hall of Fame is the highest honor that the University can bestow upon one of its former student-athletes. To be eligible, an individual must have graduated from the University at least 10 years earlier or be retired as a coach or administrator. Nominations for a given year must be submitted on an official nomination form to the director of athletics by April 1 for consideration. For more information call Dr. Michael Vienna at 410-548-3503.

What's Your Story?

The 1999 edition of Salisbury State University Magazine, formerly Scene, will feature 99 stories about notable, unique and whimsical characters from the annals of our history. We want your suggestions for the little stories that form the fabric of the Salisbury State experience. No stories of presidential stature please.

The claimants to the legendary mantle can be light-hearted in origin—they don't even have to be human. But the stories do need to be rooted to a campus experience. For example, who started the Flyer, the campus Greek System, Winter Commencement? Who came up with the school mascot and colors? Who holds the record for streaking on campus? Whatever happened to those darned pets, Maggie, Caesar, etc.?

Stories can come in all shapes and sizes, but must meet one rule: Whomever started the story here on campus must be alive to update the tale. Submit at least 25 words to Shannon Benner, SSU Office of Publications, 1101 Camden Avenue, Salisbury, MD 21801 (e-mail stbenner@ssu.edu) by Friday, February 12.

Thomas Leonard Clarke was mistakenly listed as being deceased in the last In Touch. We apologize for the error.

Give us your best shot!

What kind of exciting things have you been doing? Traveling overseas? Visiting an amusement park? Building a deck? Well send us a photo! Alumni are asked to submit a glimpse of your life for us to print in an alumni publication (please note that photos cannot be returned, nor can we guarantee they will be used).

special events

Traditions With a Twist

The Relapse

"Traditions with a Twist," the theme for Homecoming/Reunion 1998, was all about reviving Salisbury State traditions that may have gone by the wayside, enhancing some of our tried-and-true traditions and establishing new traditions for generations to come. Attendance at the October 16-18 events was the largest in SSU history, with over 800 registrations, not to mention the hundreds of others who toured campus, attended the football game, etc. The value of traditions—for all ages—became evident that weekend, as demonstrated in these photographs.

Campus elementary school reunion.

Alumni Donors

July 1, 1997 - June 30, 1998

Salisbury State University is deeply grateful to all those alumni who generously supported our University between July 1, 1997, and June 30, 1998. Your generosity has enabled SSU to continue to offer high quality education for our students.

If your name has been omitted, misspelled or listed incorrectly, please accept our apologies and call the Alumni Relations Office at 410-543-6042 or 1-888-729-2586 to correct our records.
